

90% of Canadians

trust the quality standards for food from Canadian farms.

How do we do it?

START CLEAN-STAY CLEAN™

It's a program based on the latest research, developed by leading experts, and is assessed by the Canadian Food Inspection Agency. It ensures that Canadian eggs are produced according to some of the highest standards for safety and quality in the world.

Here are five key parts:

On-farm inspections

Expert on-farm inspection by professionals
Making sure every farm meets the standards

Critical requirements

Monitoring the most important parts of the process
Standards for storage, cleanliness, air quality, feed and more

Record-keeping

Tracking how farmers are adhering to the program
Accountability is key

Continuous improvement

Science-based research improves the program

Farmer commitment

The program works because of farmers
